The NatureROCKS Large Rust Sandstone Boulder is the biggest model of climbing boulder offered in this color. It is a great decorative sculpture as well as a wonderful structure for children to climb on. It has a coarse texture with crags and striations just like those found on natural sandstone rock formations. Its rugged shape also makes it perfect for climbing, and kids will find no shortage of places to grab onto and hang from: Its crags and ledges provide multiple climbing routes and challenges, helping children develop strength, coordination, balance, and agility.

This monolithic structure can make any playground or outdoor space feel like a canyon, especially when placed near other net climbers or NatureROCKS boulders with rust sandstone coloring. Another impressive feature of the large NatureROCKS boulders is that when placed next to a medium boulder of the same type, they form an archway large enough for children to hike through. It's easy for kids to imagine that they are explorers or mountaineers when they play with this product!

Constructed from durable glass fiber reinforced concrete, this boulder is designed to withstand impacts and harsh weather. It is intended for children aged 5 to 12 and must be surrounded by appropriate safety surfacing to prevent injuries. The boulder requires a level installation area with a proper safe use zone of 18 feet by 20 feet. [\[Read More\]](#)
